

TRANSCRIPT PREPARED BY THE CLERK OF THE LEGISLATURE
Transcriber's Office

March 22, 1999

LB 142

discovered that at least our committee was supposed to be part of the solution here and we actually hadn't had I guess privy to all the details of the hole that we've dug here and, in a sense, we dug a hole. We've done a constitutional amendment that gives aid to schools, cities and counties only, and have taken away some of the resources that those other units of government had been dependent upon. Then I find out...then we find out the Appropriations Committee is supposed to be making some of these communities, some of these government entities whole. One of the reasons, we were taking this up today. That is true. On the other hand, I thought we all ought to have the benefit of this discussion this morning before we did it. So it worked out fairly well. We will be taking this up this afternoon. But I will tell you, I don't know that the Appropriations Committee automatically is inclined or should be making up the differences of some of these losses in these communities. I and we have not had the benefit of some of these months of discussion as to what the communities needed. We need some more information, I think, before we can make a timely and accurate and probably appropriate judgment as to whether we should be spending additional...further additional appropriations funds to these particular governmental entities. It's not going to be easy to make some of the decisions we have ahead of us in terms of the budget. We're going to do our best to present a budget to you in about three weeks that is solid and represents those areas of government that we should...think we should support. But there's going to...on the other hand, there will not be lots of money left for A bills and there's going to have to be some downsizing, if you will, of fiscal notes if they are to fit within the budget, and certainly under our present trend the Governor's going to be vetoing. So I'm inclined and interested in trying to find some money somewhere else to put into these specific government entities. If we can't do it on this bill, then it has to be done under a rule suspension. It has to be done someway, because there definitely has been a ripple effect to some of these entities. I am not particularly in sympathy, I will tell you, with the NRDs at this point. I think they may not need additional revenue. But I certainly think community colleges do and I think it may be open to debate of whether the other...some of the other ones do. I wanted to hear this debate this morning to understand it better before I have made a decision. I came to the floor this morning open-minded on